The government will be carried on on the same lines as heretofore. It is understood that Chapleau will become minister of railways after the session, as he is quite acceptable to Van Home. THE latest reports from Calgary are to the effect that up to the 11th instant there had not been enough rain in that district to be of any material benefit to the crops. Grass was very short, and prairie fires had commenced to run. The outlook for hay was so poor that a number of farmers intended to come north to put up hay for their cattle.

THE Chicago Graphic of June 6 has pictures of the statue of General Grant recently erected at Galena, Ill. and also of Grant's dwellings at Galena; of G. F. Train starting from Whatcom, Washington, on his second trip around the world; of Oberlin College, Ohio, of scenes around the Silurian springs at Waukesha, Wisconsin, ex-queen Natalie of Serbia, etc.

SOME weeks ago complaints were general that the oat crop was not showing up as well as was desirable. The recent rains have improved the condition of affairs greatly and oats are now generally looking very well. The universal report regarding wheat is that it never looked better at this season of the year; and the same applies to barley. Potatoes are doing well.

W. G. IBBOTSON of McCauley & Ibbotson, arrived from the end of the track on Friday morning, bringing Rev. C. A. Procnier. Rails were laid to W. Macdonald's store on Bears' hill plain, and the grade was finished to Peace Hills. Graders are hard at work all along the line from the Big Stone Creek to the Black Mud, where Laidlaw is working in the spruce bluff on the west side. Climie's outfit will be working on this side of the Black Mud not later than Monday. All hands are confident that the rails will be laid to Edmonton by July 16th.

EDWARD HAMMOND, who arrived from Bottineau county, Dakota, some weeks ago with his son, B. S. Hammond, died on Thursday afternoon at the residence of R. McKernan, South Side. Deceased was a Canadian, but had resided for a long time in Dakota. He was 64 years of age and had been in feeble health for a long time. The exposure suffered in the early part of the journey was too much for him and he gradually sank to death after his arrival here. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon to the Edmonton cemetery, Rev. D. G. McQueen conducting the service.

THE first of a series of matches in which the Edmonton rifle association took part as a member of the Northwest rifle league, which includes Manitoba and the Territories, took place on May 16th. Prince Albert made the highest score, 365; Edmonton and Calgary tied for second place with 364 each. The second match was on May 30th, in which Edmonton made 366. As Calgary only made 284 this decided the tie of the previous match in favor of Edmonton. The third match took place on June 12th in which Edmonton made a score of 320. The team consists of five men, firing seven shots each at ranges of 200, 300 and 400 yards.

D. E. NOYES, trader for W. Gordon Cummings, arrived from White Mud lake on the Jasper house trail on Thursday with a good outfit of fur, the proceeds of the winter trade. The Jasper house Indians passed a very good winter. Rabbits were numerous, as well as other game, and fish were plentiful as well. One horse was killed for food, but it was not a case of necessity. There was little or no sickness and no deaths of adults.

ON Sunday last the rails were laid on the C. & E. railway to a point opposite the Indian farm instructor's residence at Bears' hill, about 54 miles south of Edmonton. Only one outfit of graders was at work south of Peace hills farm, and that one would finish about the end of this week. It was expected that the rails would be laid to Peace hills this week. The whole force of graders were at work in the 22 miles from the Big Stone Creek to the Black mud, twelve miles from Edmonton. It is expected that the rails will be laid to the latter point about July 1st and to the river bank opposite Edmonton not later than July 15th.

M. McCauley returned from the Landing on Saturday evening. He left Edmonton at 6 a. m. on Thursday and reached the Landing at 7 a. m. on Friday. The H. B. steamer Athabasca had returned from a trip to Grand Rapids on the previous Tuesday. She made the trip down in one day and up in three days. This is an improvement on her former time. She left for Slave lake on Friday at 3 o'clock, and it was expected that she would be successful for the first time in the effort to reach the lake, as the water was high. The rains of Wednesday and Thursday of last week did not extend beyond the Sturgeon and the Two lakes respectively. The road was good. Cut worms had destroyed the Hudson's Bay garden at the Landing, but Capt. Segers' garden near by was looking well.

THE question of volunteers is alive yet. The minister of militia recently moved in the house that the members of the Regina volunteer company, and the Battleford home guards, Scout Walter R. Phalen of Regina, and the following members of Steele's scouts, namely: James Rowland, Frederick Rowland, Wm. Rowland, John Whitford, R. E. Steele, G. M. Steele, W. Chamberlayne, Peter Nelson, George Beatty and John Calder, also "Such other persons as hereafter establish to the satisfaction of the minister of militia and defence that they were respectively within the meaning of the amended act, members of the enrolled militia force actively engaged in bearing arms in the Indian and half breed outbreak, and that they have not received the land or scrip by the said amended act authorized to be granted" shall receive scrip.

CABINET CHANGES.

The announcement that Senator Abbott is to be Sir John A. Macdonald's successor as leader of the government will no doubt be received generally with feelings of satisfaction. The new Premier passed many of the best years of his life outside of politics and consequently is not generally known as a politician to the present generation of voters. Since his elevation to the senate a few years ago he is said to have shown marked ability in the leadership of the government side in that house. He has a very high standing in the legal profession and is personally popular and highly respected. Of course being a member of the senate his leadership is not likely to be permanent unless he secures a seat in the commons, that being the real power behind the throne, rather than the senate. The commons controls the funds, government is the administration of the funds, therefore to control the commons is to control the government. That control can best be exercised by a member of the popular body. For the present Sir John Thompson will lead in the commons and in consequence will be premier in fact, though not in name, with the prospect of becoming premier in name as well in the near future, should he show the necessary ability. Sir John Thompson has already achieved a name as an able and reputable politician, and has been fortunate in making few if any enemies, so that his chances for the premiership are excellent. Sir Charles Tupper, whom it was confidently expected a few months and years ago would become premier seems to have been lost in the woods in a most unaccountable manner at this critical juncture, greatly to the relief of the large majority of the people of the country on both sides of politics. With the exception of the change of premiership the cabinet will probably remain unchanged until after the close of the present session, when a general reconstruction is expected and Sir Charles may take a hand in the game. A weak point of the new premier is his intimate connection with the C. P. R. of which he is solicitor. War having recently been declared by the government on behalf of that company against the Grand Trunk, unless a peace is concluded shortly the latter company may be depended upon to back the opposition with all its force as against Abbott. One of the most probable changes is in the ministry of interior. The Free Press proposes A. W. Ross for the position and no doubt N. F. Davin has his eagle eye on it. Mr. Davin has taken a course during the present session of parliament calculated to very greatly strengthen his support in the Northwest. But the BULLETIN believes that D. H. Macdonald is the best man all round that the conservative party in the west has to offer for the position; and next to him Mr. Davin. As between A. W. Ross and the present incumbent by all means Mr. Dewdney is to be preferred. He at least has some virtues—he pays his debts and assists his friends. A government with Tupper as premier, Chapleau as minister of public works and A. W. Ross minister of interior would steal Canada poor in six months.

SIR JOHN'S LIFE.

Sir John Alexander Macdonald was born in Glasgow, Scotland on January 11th, 1815, and died in Ottawa on June 6th, 1891 in the 77th year of his age. His father Hugh Macdonald, and his mother as well, were natives of Sutherlandshire, Scotland. Mrs. Macdonald the elder is described as a tall, energetic, hospitable, specimen Highland woman, from whom Sir John inherited his genius. She is said to have been more at home in speaking Gaelic than English. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald emigrated to Canada while Sir John was very young, and the father became the owner of a small frame grist mill run by water power at Hay bay near Kingston, Ontario, where he lived the greater part of his life. Sir John was sent to school in Kingston and was a diligent and successful pupil. He entered the law office of G. Mackenzie, Kingston, at the age of sixteen and passed all the examinations qualifying him for a barrister before he was twenty-one years of age. He first practiced law in Picton, Ontario, and afterwards, having been called to the bar in 1839, in Kingston. He was married in 1843 to Miss Isabella Clark of Dalnaveir, Invernesshire, Scotland, who died in 1856, leaving a son, the present Hugh John Macdonald, M. P. for Winnipeg. In February 1867, he was married to Miss Agnes Bernard, of Jamaica, the present Lady Macdonald, by whom he had one daughter who survives him. One of the first cases which Sir John was called upon to plead in court was that of a party of the rebels of 1838 who had attempted an attack upon Kingston. He secured their acquittal. In the following year, 1867 he defended Vau de Schoula, the leader of the rebels in the fight at the Prescott windmill, but this time unsuccessfully. Another noted case was the defence of a friend named Dr. Stewart proprietor of the Argus newspaper in an action for libel, in which Sir John was victorious. He was elected member of the Canadian assembly for Kingston in 1864 and was in public life from that time until his death. From May 11th, 1867 to March 10th, 1868 he was a member of the government of Hon. Mr. Morris. From 1864 to 1868 he was in the McNabb-Morin, the Tache-Macdonald and the Macdonald-Carter administrations. From 1868 to 1869 he was in the Cartier-Macdonald government and from 1864 to the date of confederation in 1867 he was in the Tache-Macdonald and Bellieu-Macdonald administrations. On July 1st, 1867 he took office as the prime minister of the first government under confederation, and held office until November 6th, 1873. In 1873 he again became premier and remained in that position until his death. He took part in negotiating the Washington treaty of 1871. Although possessed of abilities that might have been turned to the greatest pecuniary advantage either in or out of politics, and without any weakness that would stand in the way of financial success, Sir John did not amass wealth. He was always able to live well and pay his way. Never so poor as to need pity or so rich as to fear envy. He had reached a pitch of power that would have turned the head of many a man and made him forget the humble stock from which he sprung; but the fact that he chose for his last rest a place beside his parents showed that his head was not turned and that his heart was in the right place.

Real estate booms, and particularly bust-booms, are generally supposed to be a western institution, but the following sentence from a resolution passed by the congregation of St. Augustine's church, Toronto, shows that such calamities are not confined to the west. "That the ground for this church having been purchased and the church having been built when everything was flourishing in the city and high hopes and bright anticipations were entertained for the future of our parish, and a period of depression having set in—a depression which was scarcely foreseen by anyone and which has fallen very heavily upon the poor and working classes and therefore upon the mass of the people in this parish; and as we have neither the church population which we hoped for nor the material prosperity which we expected when we entered upon the erection of this church, and being therefore unable to pay the principal and interest in full, to Mr. Gooderham (the mortgagee)," the decision was reached to let the mortgagee have the church for his mortgage of $20,000. This is worse than Winnipeg ever did, even in its darkest days.

From the vital statistics report for the town of Brampton and County of Peel, Ont., appearing in the Brampton Times it appears that out of a town population of 3,294 during the year there were 78 deaths, of which 14 were from consumption and 5 from pneumonia. In the County of Peel with a population of 25,793 there were altogether 365 deaths of which 34 were from consumption and 27 from pneumonia. This high proportion of deaths from disease of the lungs in one of the healthiest parts of healthy Ontario is in marked contrast to the record of the Northwest and particularly of the Edmonton district, where consumption is practically unknown.

R. A. James of Calgary who visited the Pacific coast recently, confirms the reports already received as to the business collapse on Puget Sound, Washington. There is a large return movement into British Columbia.

GENERAL

Lethbridge gardens have suffered severely from cut worms.

Grading for the C. P. R. extension from Melita to the Souris coal fields began this week.

Rutte and Sacramento counties, California, are being devastated by a grasshopper plague.

The anthracite mine at Anthracite, in the mountains west of Calgary, has begun to be worked once more.

The Calgary Herald wants the Canadian government to bonus the sheep and cattle ranchers of Southern Alberta to kill the wolves which destroy their stock. The necessity of protecting their stock and the value of the wolf's skin should be sufficient bonus to enterprising and energetic men.

Alfred Byron, a mounted policeman in Calgary committed suicide on June 5th by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. He was on town detachment at the time and had been drinking. He was about 35 years of age, an Englishman and the son of Oliver Bond Byron the actor and playwright. He leaves a widow. No reason was given for the act, except that Byron was highly and somewhat addicted to drink.

The Winnipeg Commercial objects to the sale for speculative purposes of the Indian reserve on the South Side. It considers that a plan now in accord with the needs of the country in the way of settlement would have been to fix a fair price on each quarter section and then sell only to men who would settle on and improve the land purchased. It says "A great evil has been done western Canada by allowing large areas of the public domain to fall into the hands of speculators."

In answer to a question in parliament the minister of interior informed the house that a settlement was made with the temperance colonization society on the 21st of April last. The company is to receive 100,000 acres of land, for which the government has been paid $100,000 as a settlement in full. Several protests were made to the government against a settlement with the society until the society had recompensed equitably those who had invested money in the scheme. The government knew nothing of the manner in which the company had disposed of its lands.

A small circular in pamphlet form from the Immigration Information office, 31, Bond Street, Westminster, S. W., dated April 1st, 1891, has been handed the BULLETIN by A. Adamson of Clover Bar. A note on the first page states that "This office has been established by Her Majesty's government for the purpose of supplying intending emigrants with useful and trustworthy information respecting immigration chiefly to the British colonies, and is under the direction of the colonial office." It appears that the office collects information from the most reliable sources available regarding the opportunities for emigrants in the various British colonies and in the Transvaal republic, South Africa, and the Argentine republic, South America, as well. This information is embodied in circulars such as the one in question, to a separate circular being devoted to each colony or country. The circular received applies to Canada and is a marvel of varied and accurate useful information, well condensed and arranged. Circulars are issued quarterly, free, and each edition is based on the information collected during the preceding three months. This reduces the emigration question to a system and no doubt will be found a most effective means of distributing the surplus population of the British islands to the places where it will do most good in building up the empire.
